Black Book
The Mary Lou Williams Center for Black Culture strives to promote racial understanding, build community, and foster an appreciation for and increase knowledge of Black people, Black history, Black culture, and the vast contributions of people of the African Diaspora. We provide programs and services which contribute to the successful academic and personal development of Black students at Duke University and positively impact the lives of all those whom they encounter. We seek to be a hub for information and activity related to Black students, alumni, and other Black members of the Duke community. We welcome all who seek to engage with and be empowered by a greater understanding of the Black experience.

see you in the lou.

We welcome additions, corrections, or other suggestions for the Black Book or feedback for the Mary Lou Williams Center for Black Culture at: marylou@duke.edu
Greetings,

As a member of the community, I know that the task of finding your niche and making this place feel like home may be a bit overwhelming, that is why this guide has been created. The Black Book, developed at the request of students, provides you with a consolidated source of information on faculty and staff uniquely important to your success and places in the Duke/Durham/Triangle area that will help you become even more part of the community.

Your success at Duke is perhaps the single most important measure of our success. We know that this doesn’t simply depend upon your effort alone, for truly it “takes a village” – of supporters and organizations – with caring faculty principal among them.

The staff of the Mary Lou Williams Center for Black Culture (MLWC) is committed to creating connections that strengthen this community. We take great pride in the programs, advising, and support we provide and desire to be an even greater resource to you and the entire community.

We welcome you and your engaged participation in the life of the Center, whether that is through use of our lending library, attendance at programs, or just to hang out with us, your friends and faculty. We trust that your involvement in the Mary Lou will greatly enhance your Duke experience and we know that it will greatly enhance ours.

Have a wonderful year!

Mary Lou Williams (b. 1910 - d. 1981)
Renowned pianist, composer, teacher and humanitarian Mary Lou Williams performed with numerous jazz legends and was among the first jazz artists to perform at Carnegie Hall and St. Patrick’s Cathedral in New York City. Williams taught at Duke University as an Artist-in-Residence from 1977 until her death. She is remembered by artists such as Duke Ellington, Thelonious Monk and Bud Powell as one whose musical and spiritual contributions were singular and profound.

Samuel DuBois Cook (b. 1928 - d. 2017)
In 1966, Samuel DuBois Cook became the first black professor at Duke University and has the distinction of being the first African American to hold a regular faculty appointment at any predominantly white college or university in the South. He served as a member of the Duke University Board of Trustees from 1981 - 1993 and was elected by the Board as a Trustee Emeritus in 1993. After earning his A.B. degree from Morehouse College, Dr. Cook received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from The Ohio State University. Dr. Cook had an outstanding record as a political scientist, scholar, educator and civil rights activist. The Samuel DuBois Cook Society was founded in the spring of 1997 to honor the years of service that Dr. Cook has offered to Duke University.

John Hope Franklin (b. 1915 - d. 2009)
Dr. John Hope Franklin was born in Rentiesville, Oklahoma in 1915, only fifty years after slavery had been abolished. His father practiced law and his mother taught elementary school, and from an early age the young Franklin learned the power of words and ideas. From his parents he also learned how to survive and thrive in a time when the color line was indelibly drawn. John Hope Franklin was the James B. Duke Professor Emeritus of History, and for seven years was Professor of Legal History in the Law School at Duke University. He received his A. M. and Ph. D. in History from Harvard University. Professor Franklin served on many national commissions and delegations, including the Advisory Commission on Public Diplomacy.

The Fabulous Five (first five Black undergraduate students)

M. Mitchell Harris  N. White Jr.  C. Smith Rush  G. Kendall  W. Reuben-Cooke
Black presence in the Duke University undergraduate community began in 1963 and, although it would not be realized for two decades, the Mary Lou Williams Center for Black Culture was born of that moment in history and bears its markings. Established in 1983, the Center remains a safe, welcoming and supportive space that reflects the core values, culture, mission and perspectives of Duke’s Black community. The Center was named to honor the great artist, Mary Lou Williams (b. Atlanta, GA, 8 May 1910; d. Durham, NC, 28 May, 1981).

Previous Directors include Ed Hill and Leon Dunkley.
Chandra Guinn | Director

Chandra Guinn is a native Mississippian who lived in Iowa & Maryland before making her home in the Triangle. She came to Duke in October 2005. Chandra has completed degrees in Sociology at Bucknell University and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Her scholarly interests include Africana Studies, Women’s Studies, Public History and philanthropy to name a few. In regards to her work at the Mary Lou Williams Center, Chandra has said “I feel privileged to serve as the Center director and will always strive to demonstrate excellence in action.” When she is away from the MLWC, Chandra enjoys educational and cultural outings & travel and watching design shows and enjoying the company of good friends.going to used bookstores among other things.

Nathaniel Thompson | Assistant Director

Nathaniel Thompson is a committed educator. A Philadelphia native, Nathaniel has extensive experience empowering and educating students in university, vocational, secondary, and primary school settings. He received his B.A. in African American Studies and a Masters’ degree in Urban Education, both from Temple University. Nathaniel has served as an adjunct professor at Rutgers, Villanova, Temple and Drexel University. A jazz enthusiast, and songwriter, Nate is known for blending history and musical knowledge into curricula to address issues of equity, justice and leadership in urban schools. He is passionate about researching and sharing information about African history and culture.

Ashton Murray | Student Development Coordinator

Ashton Murray is a native of North Carolina, where he completed his M.Div. at Wake Forest University and his Bachelors in Public Policy at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Ashton’s experiences range from working with and mentoring college students, fighting against food insecurity, community organizing for violence reduction, and working at a religious liberty think tank. His teaching and facilitation work has allowed him to join local religious, civic, and corporate organizations as they have reflected on their desires to become more diverse and charted paths toward a fuller appreciation and inclusion of difference.

Roslyn Mickens | Office Coordinator

Roslyn Mickens comes from a military family background in which she traveled extensively. Eventually, her parents decided to settle down in North Carolina and make Durham their home. While growing up in Durham, she was active in the local civil rights movement and participated in community organizing and educational reform efforts of influential black activist Howard Fuller. She graduated from the “original” Hillside High School, and continued her education at Virginia State University. She had an extensive career at Nortel Networks Corporation before coming to Duke. Roslyn is an active member of her community, where she served for 15 years as a Girl Scout troop leader, and volunteers as a mentor in programs for at-risk adolescents and teenage girls. She and her husband José have four daughters. Roslyn is a huge Duke fan. In her free time, she loves watching sports, camping, and vintage shopping.

guide to student organizations
Black Men’s Union (BMU)
The Black Men’s Union a group that is dedicated to ensuring that black men are an integral part of the Duke University community, and essentially what that means is we want to make sure black men remain involved across campus in a wide variety of activities and organizations. Black Men’s Union seeks to foster camaraderie, develop intellectually-engaged professionals, and support black men on and off of Duke’s campus.

Black Student Alliance (BSA)
The mission of the BSA is to support and advocate on behalf of black students in order to enhance Duke academically, socially, and culturally. The Black Student Alliance serves the purpose of representing the interests of the black undergraduate students of Duke University. We are primarily an organization geared toward communicating the particular administration and student population at large by programming information relevant to the black experience. BSA works in coordination with various other organizations to develop programs in the interest of black students. BSA aims to enrich student life at the university culturally, intellectually, and socially; to ensure full ongoing administration commitment of fair, equitable policies; and to strengthen and support the bonds of community between black Duke students and the larger Duke and Durham communities. BSA has several sub-committees, including: academic affairs, history, outreach, public affairs, publicity, social, alumni and graduate affairs, BSAI, and graduation, and web team.

Black Women’s Union (BWU)
The Black Women’s Union aims to prepare African American Students at Duke for the professional world. Through networking, mentorship, and dialogue, BWU provides the resources necessary for black women to succeed throughout and beyond their Duke career. BWU will also serve as a primary resource for the Spelman-Duke exchange program. In addition to preparing Duke students for their time at Spelman, we will commit to hosting, welcoming, and providing a support system for Spelman students at Duke for the semester.

The Chronicle
The Chronicle’s editorial department has a staff of over 100 student volunteers and is always looking for more. Students have the opportunity to work in any of the Chronicle’s editorial departments: University (campus news), City/State (local coverage), Features, Health and Science, Editorials, Sports, Photography, Graphics/Design, Recess (the weekly arts and entertainment magazine), or Towerview (the bi-monthly news and perspectives magazine). Information and training sessions are held at the beginning of the fall semester and then periodically over the course of the year. The only elections at The Chronicle are for editor and sports editor and take place in February.
DukeAFRICA
DukeAFRICA is the African students’ association on campus. We provide a medium for students to come together to celebrate African culture, spread awareness about Africa’s history and culture to the larger Duke population, and provide community service in the Durham area, as well as aid to establishments and communities in Africa. We incorporate the element of dance to DukeAFRICA, with Nakisai, a dance group that performs a variety of styles from the continent and beyond.

Duke Ethiopian/Eritrean Student Transnational Association (DESTA)
The Duke Ethiopian/Eritrean Student Transnational Association (DESTA) provides a safe space where Ethiopian/Eritrean-American and Eritrean students celebrate their culture through academic, social, and service activities. We seek to cultivate – among undergraduates – an understanding of Ethiopian/Eritrean history, arts, customs, food, dress, language, literature, and society. As well, we organize annual service-learning opportunities and outreach to students in the Durham area. Don’t hesitate to come to one, two, or all of our events!

Duke University Union (DUU)
The student-led Duke University Union provides a diverse range of cultural, intellectual, educational, recreational, and social programming to complement the academic experience of Duke University students and to provide enrichment for the University faculty, staff, and employees, and the surrounding community. In cooperation with the staff of the Office of Student Activities, the University Union serves as a leadership training ground for its officers, chairs, and committee members. Through experiential learning, they develop knowledge and appreciation of professionalism and the fundamental management skills of effective motivation, organization, and communication.

Duke Student Government (DSG)
Duke Student Government serves as a voice for Duke students on campus. Executive and legislative members work hard to represent their constituents in all issues, including but not limited to improving facilities management and Krzyzewskiville. Legislator packets are available in September. Students may run in the general election, where they can campaign and run or interview for the position of At-Large legislator. Officer and cabinet position packets for the following school year are available in the spring.
Future is Now (FIN)
Future Is Now (FIN) is a mentorship program that pairs Black girls from the Durham community with Duke undergraduate women. Future Is Now allows black undergraduate women to give back to the community in the form of mentoring young girls. Members meet Saturdays on campus. Meetings combine educational and social activities to promote self-esteem, cultural awareness and good health.

The Girl’s Club
The Girl’s Club is a student run organization that reaches out and mentors young middle school girls in the Durham Community in an effort to gracefully guide them into womanhood. The Girl’s Club is a mentoring program that seeks to connect Duke women to Durham adolescent girls (grades 6-8). They meet once a week throughout the school year at the local community center, West End Teen Center.

Minority Association of Pre-medical Students (MAPS)
Duke University’s Minority Association of Pre-medical Students (MAPS) chapter is a self-governing body of pre-medical and pre-health students. The purpose of this organization is to provide underrepresented pre-med and pre-health students with knowledge, skills, and experience that are both prerequisite and concomitant to professional participation in health care fields. Secondly, to improve minority matriculation into all professional health related programs, with an emphasis on medicine.

Nakisai
Nakisai meaning “beautiful” in Shona, is Duke’s premier African Dance Ensemble. From humble beginnings in 2012, we have grown tremendously over the past few years. We aspire to share the African Diaspora’s dance and culture with the Duke community. #DMBL

National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP)
The Duke University Chapter of the NAACP desire to advance the political, educational, and social status of black people and other people of color; to eliminate racial prejudice; to establish a harmonious relationship between all the students of color, the administration and itself; to develop an intelligent, effective leadership to uplift the Duke and Durham communities, in alliance with the national and local chapters; to maintain awareness on campus of racial issues.
National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC)
The National Pan-Hellenic Council is a governing body of nine historically Black Greek organizations, eight of which are chartered on campus:

- Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.
- Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.
- Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc.
- Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc.
- Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc.
- Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc.
- Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc.
- Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Inc.

*For more information on the above organizations, visit www.studentaffairs.duke.edu/greek

National Society of Black Engineers (NSBE)
The Mission of NSBE is to increase the number of culturally responsible black engineers that will surpass all expectations in their academic and professional endeavors, and will have a strong, positive impact in their communities. The Duke Society of Black Engineers, specifically, are on a mission to not only increase the number of successful minority engineers at Duke University, but to form a growing network among ourselves, alumni, and other undergraduate engineers within the Triangle area.

Queer People of Color Discussion Group (QPOC)
The Queer People of Color Discussion Group was created to give a voice to the LGBT & questioning people of color community at Duke University. This confidential group addresses the issues of QPOC while acknowledging the importance of the intersection of culture, gender and sexual orientation. QPOC strives to foster an environment of support and awareness all the while encouraging open dialogue and a commitment to self-love and self care.

Students of the Caribbean Association (SOCA)
Students of the Caribbean is a cultural, social, and political organization for students of Caribbean descent. Activities include social gatherings, co-sponsorship of the charity ball, fundraisers for political causes in the Caribbean, and an annual carnival that features Caribbean cooking, music, and dance.
United In Praise Gospel Choir (UP) & Praise Dance
United in Praise (UP), formerly the Modern Black Mass Choir (MBMC), is a diverse student group consisting of both undergraduate and graduate Duke University students who profess the Christian faith. The choir is one of the oldest student groups on the campus of Duke University. During the mid-sixties, a time when Duke did not openly embrace its cultural and ethnic diversity, the Modern Black Mass Choir was organized in a local church for Duke’s Black students. In 1972, the choir was reorganized as a Duke University student group. During the 1997-1998 school year, in an effort to represent the diversity of the choir members, and above all to emphasize our purpose, the choir was renamed United in Praise. Though the name of the choir has changed, our commitments to Duke University, the Durham community, and Almighty God have remained the same.

The Bridge
The Bridge is an online platform for Black and Latina women to share their personal narrative through different forms of creative expression (poetry, news, dance, art, song, and more). All who support our mission are invited to apply, as we understand the power of communities standing in solidarity with one another. Our mission to build an online community for Black and Latina women through cross-cultural and cross-campus collaborations that celebrates their identities and allows them to reclaim agency over their narrative through creative expression.

Duke Amandla Chorus
“Amandla” is a Zulu and Xhosa word that means “Power” and as a chorus, we seek to share the rich, diverse and empowering African culture with the Duke community through our music. Being the first of its kind, Amandla Chorus is an African music group that performs traditional music from various countries in Africa in the respective languages. We also incorporate dancing and local African instruments with our performances. We use music as an avenue to teach our community about the multiplicity of African culture, history and values. We are passionate about Africa and want to be a part of sharing its rich culture to the Duke and Durham communities. We also seek to be a part of a movement that brings attention to issues in Africa through our performances and events.
Black Graduate and Professional Student Association (BGPSA)
The Black Graduate and Professional Student Association (BGPSA) has planned a wide array of exciting events for our members. These events include academic forums, luncheons, social events, and a recognition ceremony. Our mission here on campus is to enhance the Duke experience for our members through community service, social, and academically-based programming events, contribute to the community, and assist in the development of future minority leadership.

Black Law Students Association (BLSA)
The Black Law Students Association ("BLSA") exists to address the unique needs and concerns of the approximately seventy black law students at Duke University School of Law, and to promote diversity within the Duke Law community and within the legal profession. Through the use of consistent social interaction and programming geared largely towards scholarship, career development, and community assistance, BLSA fosters academic achievement, community involvement, and, ultimately, the development of future black leadership in the legal profession.

Black and Latino MBA Organization (BLMBAO)
The goal of the MBA is to provide Black and Latino American club members the tools, skills and opportunities necessary to challenge themselves and other to be successful business leaders, increase our impact on Black and Latino recruiting both professionally and academically, organize activities aimed at career development and professional leadership of its members and the Black and Latino community, and sponsor activities that benefit the local minority community.

Black Seminarians Union (BSU)
The Black Seminarians Union’s purpose is to ensure the development of a theological perspective commensurate with the Gospel of Jesus Christ and relevant to the needs of black seminarians and the black church. Its goal is to improve the quality of life academically, spiritually, politically, and socially for the entire Divinity School community.

Bouchet Society
The Bouchet Society hopes to further strengthen the efforts of underrepresented minority graduate students in achieving their career goals in science research and education, and to encourage values that will promote diversity and inclusion in the sciences in honor of its namesake Dr. Edward Alexander Bouchet. The Duke University Bouchet Society meets monthly and e-mail reminders are sent out before each meeting.
Hurston-James Society
Named for Zora Neale Hurston, novelist and anthropologist, and C.L.R. James, historian, novelist, critic, and social activist, the Society provides students a forum for discussion of issues relevant to their survival and growth as members of the academic community. Membership in the Hurston-James Society is open to all students of color enrolled in the Duke University’s Graduate School or in graduate programs at other Triangle area universities.

Nicholas School’s Black and Latino Club (BLC)
We are a student group providing a space to celebrate and educate the Nicholas School community on Black and Latino culture. Additionally, we are an organization that plans to serve the needs, not only of Black and Latino students, but also those of any student, faculty, or staff that wishes to engage in meaningful activities that build cultural, academic, and environmental awareness.

Student National Medical Association (SNMA)
The purpose of the Student National Medical Association is to assemble and organize individuals for the purpose of bridging health care disparities. The SNMA seeks to be at the forefront in addressing health care issues faced by members of underrepresented minority populations as it seeks to identify relevant and practical solutions to affect change.

Duke African Graduate and Professional Students Association (DAGPSA)
The Duke African Graduate and Professional Students Association serves to provide a community for African graduate and professional students, visiting scholars and researchers at Duke. We seek to integrate with other like-minded organizations to foster sustainable cultural and social awareness, educational exchange and professional networks. DAGPSA organizes orientation events at the beginning of each semester to inform incoming African students about resources available to them. We also set up mentorship initiatives and collaborative events with undergraduate, and like-minded cultural organizations at Duke such as DukeAfrica, DukeEngage, Duke Africa Initiative, Ihouse, African Conversation Club and others. In addition, DAGPSA holds formal and informal events at least once a month including educational discussions, social gatherings and professional networking events.

In Memory

A noble life is always an intimate source of joy, inspiration, satisfaction, and uplift.
-Samuel DuBois Cook

Dr. Samuel DuBois Cook was a distinguished political scientist, scholar, educator, author, teacher, administrator, human rights activist, and public servant. A native of Griffin, Ga., he was the son of The Rev. Marcus Emmanuel Cook and Mrs. Mary Cook. Along with his classmate, Martin King Jr, he entered Morehouse College when he was 15 years old. At Morehouse he was student body president and founded the campus chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). He taught at Southern University, Atlanta University, the University of Illinois, UCLA and Duke University. At Duke University he became the first African American tenured professor at a predominantly White southern college or university. In 1974, Dr. Cook became Dillard University’s fourth president. He served with distinction for 22 years, establishing the National Center for Black-Jewish Relations with the goal of healing race relations between Blacks and Jews.

With more than 60 years in higher education, Dr. Cook was a recipient of numerous honors and awards. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa Honor Society, and received honorary degrees from Morehouse College, The Ohio State University, Dillard University, Illinois College, Duke University, the University of New Orleans, and Chicago Theological Seminary. President Jimmy Carter appointed Dr. Cook to the prestigious National Council on the Humanities. In recognition of his moral, intellectual, and intercultural leadership, President Bill Clinton appointed him to the historic United States Holocaust Memorial Council.

In 1981, he was named a member of the Duke Board of Trustees and later became a trustee emeritus. In 1997, Duke established the Samuel DuBois Cook Society, which continued Cook’s work affirming and celebrating the efforts of African Americans at Duke and to better relations between people of all backgrounds. In 2006, Duke created a new postdoctoral fellowship in his honor in its Center for the Study of Race, Ethnicity and Gender in the Social Sciences. Duke also established the Samuel Dubois Cook Center on Social Equity, which in turn continued Cook’s scholarly research on the social problems associated with inequality and divisions by race and ethnicity.

Dr. Cook was the author or editor of numerous scholarly publications, including Black-Jewish Relations: Dillard University National Conference Papers, 1989-1997. His most recent publication was Benjamin E. Mays: His Life, Contributions, and legacy written about the inspirational and pioneering president emeritus of Morehouse College. Dr. Cook was the first Black president of the Southern Political Science Association and also served as the Vice-President of the American Political Science Association. He was president of the Association for the Study of African American Life and History, Inc. and chair of Presidents of UNCF.

Dr. Samuel DuBois Cook along with his beloved wife Sylvia, created an enduring legacy devoted to loving and caring for students.
