Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life Update

In May, Student Affairs said goodbye to Dr. Clarybel Peguero, director of the Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life (OFSL), who accepted a new position as Senior Director in the Duke Alumni Office. After eight successful years of managing the OFSL, advising, mentoring and coaching undergraduates in forty-two Greek letter organizations, Clarybel left an indelible thumb print in leadership development and program design that ranged from the annual Greek Student Convocation to new member recruitment processes. Under her direction, Clarybel and her staff worked diligently to create a community that aspired to the ideals of scholarship, leadership and service. Despite her choosing to remain a Dukie, but in another office, we still miss her endearing presence.

In consultation with the Vice President of Student Affairs, Dr. Larry Moneta, I made the decision to relocate the OFSL in the University Center for Activities and Events (UCAE), the Center that supports 350 student clubs and organizations in their event planning, risk management and financial transactions. We are currently in the search process for a new OFSL director. The new director will report directly to the Sr. Director of Student Life, Dr. David Pittman and will also have the benefit of support from the Assistant Vice President and Executive Director of UCAE, Mr. Chris Roby. I expect this organizational restructuring will provide additional scaffolding to benefit our Greek letter organizations’ ongoing programmatic needs.

We hope that you will not only visit the newly renovated UCAE office suite in the Bryan Center where OFSL will be located, but also the new Campus Center that includes the West Union Dining Facility, the Pavilion, and the new Wellness Center.

Fraternity and Sorority Life 2008-2016
This past year the Greek community held a new event during First Big Weekend—the Meet the Greeks BBQ—which gave students an opportunity to meet members of all 41 fraternity and sorority chapters. The event took place on the East Campus Quad and was well attended by students interested in talking with current members about their Greek experience.

The results of spring 2016 formal recruitment show sustained interest on the part of students to make Greek life a part of their Duke experience. Indeed, participation in IFC recruitment has steadily increased over the past four years, from 429 students starting the recruitment process in 2013, to 460 recruits in 2016. Over the same period, the number bids extended by the IFC has risen from 377 to 470, while the number of new members has increased, respectively, from 250 to 311.

Credit for the success of IFC’s 2016 formal recruitment efforts go to IFC recruitment team members Peter Mullen (Pi Kappa Phi), Spencer Ryals (Sigma Phi Epsilon), and Jonathan Rogers (Pi Kappa Alpha). The IFC recruitment team for the 2016-2017 school year will be led by George Mellgard (Alpha Epsilon Pi), Jack Lubin (Alpha Delta Phi), and Basil Seif (Alpha Tau Omega).

The numbers for Panhellenic recruitment during spring 2016 did not increase from the previous year, but were strong nonetheless, with 435 women starting the recruitment process, and 345 women joining the Panhellenic community.

Panhellenic recruitment occurred this past year over the two weekends of January 15th-17th and January 24th-25th, with Bid Day falling on Monday, January 25th. Elena Elliott (Zeta Tau Alpha) and Avery Charmichael (Delta Delta Delta) will head up the Panhel Recruitment team for the 2016-2017 school year.

Panhellenic recruitment 2017 will again be held, in its entirety, at the Durham Convention Center in downtown Durham. This convention center was utilized again this past year, in conjunction with the Durham Armory, to provide adequate and equitable space for all ten Panhellenic chapters. We are again thankful to the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs for providing continued and substantial funding in support of Panhellenic recruitment during the recent extensive campus renovation and revitalization efforts.

The 2016 Panhellenic recruitment team, led by Erica Fischer-Colbrie (Delta Gamma) and Leigh Raskauskas (Pi Beta Phi), deserves special recognition for their tireless efforts and planning, without which, Panhellenic recruitment could not have succeeded.

During the 2015-2016 school year the National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC) inducted 28 new members into its respective organizations, while the Multicultural Greek Council (MGC) added 20 new members.
In its fifth year of assessment, the Duke Greek Community Standards program continues to help chapters track their performance as organizations and direct student leaders’ attention towards aspects of chapter management where room for improvement exists.

The Duke Greek Community Standards program identifies chapters that are functioning at consistently high measures of excellence as well as those that are struggling to meet minimum standards and provides chapter advisors with the ability to identify specific goals to pursue with their chapters over the next year. Chapter standards are evaluated on an annual basis using six measurement categories including Academics, University and Community Involvement, Membership Development, Chapter Management, and Financial Management. A scoring rubric is used to rate chapters on a percentage scale based on their level of achievement. Chapters that receive a standards achievement rating of 90% or greater will achieve the Gold Status designation. Chapters with a rating of 80% to 89% are awarded Silver Status, while those receiving ratings from 70% to 79% achieve Bronze Status. Any chapter failing to meet the minimum standards rating of 70% is required to meet with the OFSL Program Coordinator to develop an action plan for correcting chapter deficiencies and will attend monthly meetings with their staff member until the next round of community standards submissions is evaluated.

This past year saw 20 out of 41 chapters achieve highest honors as gold standard chapters.
The Interfraternity Council (IFC) is currently comprised of 17 Greek letter organizations:

IFC New Member Reception

This year Duke IFC hosted its new member reception at the Nasher Museum of Art. New members of all 17 IFC chapters gathered to celebrate the completion of their new member process and to learn about the significance of joining a Duke IFC organization.

VP of New Member Education, Ian Snyder, began the evening by congratulating news members on behalf of the Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life and the Interfraternity Council, thanking Phi Delta Theta fraternity for hosting the evening, and introducing outgoing IFC President, Max Schreiber, who delivered a State of IFC address to those in attendance.

Schreiber then introduced COO of Phi Delta Theta, Sean Wagner, who spoke to students about his fraternity experience and about his relationship with the evening’s keynote speaker, Dr. Thomas “Sparky” Reardon.

Dr. Sparky Reardon earned a bachelor’s degree in education from Ole Miss (1972), a master’s degree in education administration from Delta State University (1976), and a Ph.D. in educational leadership from Ole Miss (2000). He retired as the Assistant Vice Chancellor/Dean of Students at the University of Mississippi in 2014 after serving the university for 36 years, and now retains the title of Dean Emeritus.

Dr. Reardon talked to students about inclusivity, and spoke movingly about the importance of individual and group accountability and responsibility, relating his personal experiences to students through stories from his career, which drew on topics ranging from personal ethics to the tragic death of a student fraternity member.

To conclude the evening, IFC President Elect, Mitchell Grant, led new members in reciting the IFC Oath, and encouraged all students to attend an upcoming Greek Power Luncheon and Escalation Workshop as a part of joining in the One Love Foundation’s goal to end relationship abuse on college campuses and beyond.

NPHC Week 2015

The Dynamic Duke NPHC kicked off the 2015-2016 school year with their NPHC Week 2015: A Different World, during which the council hosted a variety of events, from social gatherings, to community service and other meaningful programming. The week of events commenced on Monday, September 7th with a classy all-white mixer on Central Campus, followed by a group study hall on Tuesday evening in Perkins Library. On Wednesday night, social activist, photographer, and entrepreneur, Eunique Jones-Gibson, joined council members for a conversation about her experiences, the pursuit of life goals, and creative social activism. Eunique Jones-Gibson is a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. and the creator of Because of Them, We Can, a movement aimed at empowering today's youth through recognizing and honoring influential persons of color.

Anniversaries and Milestones

The Kappa Omicron chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. was founded at Duke University on December 7, 1975. In celebration of their 40th Charter Day, the chapter invited members past and present to gather on campus for a weekend of events, including their 40th Anniversary Gala, where members and guests gathered to enjoy fellowship and to reflect upon the legacy and future of the Kappa Omicron chapter.

Addressing Social Issues

The 2015-2016 school year was busy for Duke NPHC, and the council involved itself in a multitude of activities centered around social justice and service to the Duke and Durham communities.

One such activity included a collaboration between the Iota Mu chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. and Gamma Phi Beta Sorority entitled, “Fits for Fall,” a cold-weather clothing drive that provided winter clothing for the less fortunate. In collaboration with the Global Education Office, the Iota Mu chapter also hosted a forum to discuss study abroad opportunities and the experiences of black women participating in study abroad.

Meanwhile, the Lambda Omega chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. sought to raise awareness for generational poverty with their Little Black Dress Campaign, and supported the #BlackLivesMatter movement by hosting a mural painting and a talk with the movement’s creator, Patrisse Cullers.

The Kappa Omicron chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. teamed up with Lambda Upsilon Lambda Fraternity, Inc. to host a panel discussion on the experience of black and brown laborers at Duke, and hosted a democratic debate watch party, while the Alpha Alpha Chi chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. held events during their Sigma Week 2015 focused on topics such as microaggressions on campus and mental health at Duke.

The Nu Omicron chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. remembered the lives of women of color who have fallen victim to police brutality by promoting a #SayHerName campaign, and supported US veterans by tabling in their honor. The chapter also made visits to the residents of the Durham Nursing and Rehabilitation Center.

The Omicron Nu chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Inc. supported other local SGRho chapters and hosted a discussion on black leadership, while the Omega Zeta chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. created an essay-writing contest for local youth, presenting the winning author with a check for $500.

BSAI Step Show Spring 2016

The NPHC Step Show occurred over BSAI weekend this past year, and while the competition was fierce, it was Alpha Phi Alpha and Alpha Kappa Alpha who took home the trophies for the men's and women's bracket respectively.

Centennial Celebration

Zeta Tau Alpha celebrated 100 years at Duke this past fall, inviting members and alumni to gather in recognition and celebration of a century of sisterhood.

National Panhellenic Conference Summit

On January 13th, 2016, over 65 attendees gathered in Von Canon Hall to participate in Duke's first NPC Summit. Panhellenic executive board members, chapter presidents, recruitment chairs, chapter advisors, and NPC national representatives joined with university staff to kick off the recruitment season and discuss ways to positively impact the Formal Recruitment process.

Panhellenic President, Emma Welch, spoke to attendees about her positive recruitment experiences during her time as a new student at Duke, and encouraged her attending members to work towards uplifting and further improving the Panhellenic community at Duke.

Over dinner, NPC Area Advisor, Shari Malone, facilitated further conversation among attendees about how best to work towards continual improvement of the Formal Recruitment experience, in order to ensure that as many women as possible are able to experience the warmth and sisterhood of sorority membership.

Panhellenic Tampon Drive

It is estimated that a year’s supply of pads and tampons costs more than $100. The expense of these vital necessities often makes them unattainable for women living in poverty. Pads and tampons are not covered by food stamps and are rarely available through homeless shelters and food banks. Additionally, without proper sanitary supplies, women all over the world are forced to miss school and work, decreasing their socioeconomic mobility.

In its second year, the Panhellenic Tampon Drive continued efforts to address access to vital feminine hygiene products by focusing on the issue as it exists in Durham and abroad. Members tabled on West Campus to collect pads, tampons, and donations to benefit women in Africa, and here in Durham, who are not able to afford these basic necessities. Funds were donated to ZanaAfrica, while nearly 700 pads were sent to the WISER foundation in Kenya. The council also donated 400 tampons to the Duke organization Progress Period, which works with a local Durham group. Organized by Panhellenic Director of Philanthropy and Outreach, Franny Brancati, the drive drew participation of women from all ten of Duke’s Panhellenic chapters.

Duke Greek Emerging Leaders

Duke Greek Emerging Leaders (DGEL) serves as the premiere leadership development program for the Duke fraternity and sorority community. The Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life seeks diverse and dynamic sophomores and juniors from the four Greek councils to participate in the Emerging Leaders program, offering them the opportunity to attend six educational sessions during the fall semester of each year where they learn skills that will help them to facilitate positive organizational change. During the past year, 86 students have graduated from the program and many have gone on to become chapter and council officers and presidents, Order of Omega members and more. Nominations for new Emerging Leaders are requested during the spring semester and this coming fall the program will accommodate 122 student participants.

Greek Leadership Academy

Each fall newly elected and continuing chapter presidents, council officers, and chapter representatives participate in the Greek Leadership Academy. Students and staff head out for a weekend of leadership training and team-building exercises where they get to bond during group meals and small-group discussions.

During the retreat, students participate in facilitator-led discussions and breakout groups and engage in conversations which challenge them to identify and address issues facing their chapters as well as those impacting the broader fraternity and sorority community. Students from the four Greek councils benefit from the opportunity to gather together in one place, and come away from Leadership Academy with lasting cross-council relationships that continue to benefit the entire Greek community by establishing connections between council and chapter leaders based on trust and mutual understanding of the issues that will challenge them as student leaders and chapter members.

Activities at the Greek Leadership Academy are designed to help students understand and identify their personal values and what it means to live those values as chapter members and as leaders of their respective organizations. Students return to campus with a greater understanding of their role as leaders, having acquired many of the skills they will rely on to face the challenges of assuming officer roles within their organizations.

This past year the Greek Leadership Academy took place at Park Springs Camp & Retreat Center in Providence, NC. The coming year’s academy will be held at various locations in Downtown Durham.

Continue to Serve as Alumni

The Duke University Greek Advisory Council (DUGAC) is a group composed of Duke alumni, faculty, and staff members who meet during Homecoming Weekend and Alumni Reunion Weekend to discuss pressing matters facing the fraternity and sorority life community. John Sacha (‘70, Sigma Phi Epsilon) chairs the council. If you are interested in serving as a member of this council please contact David Pittman by September 15th at david.pittman@duke.edu.

What can alumni do to stay connected?

1. If you live locally, consider serving as an alumni advisor.
2. Visit your chapter during Homecoming and Alumni Reunion Weekends.
3. Offer your expertise to students through networking and speaking about your professional/educational experiences at a chapter or council program.
4. Internships available? Please send information to your chapter members. Contact us and we will put you in touch with the chapter.
5. Looking for your chapter’s alumni relations chair? Contact us and we will connect you with the current chapter officer.
6. If you have stayed involved with your fraternity/sorority as alumni please share the benefits of that experience with your undergraduate chapter members. Let them know how to stay involved after graduation.
