Referral from CAPS, Student Health, or other confidential source on campus

Member of Duke community files online incident report at http://studentaffairs.duke.edu/conduct/report-incident

Student directly contacts the Office of Gender Violence Prevention and Intervention [OGVPI] in the Women's Center

OGVPI staff member reaches out to offer services to student

Student meets confidentially with therapist from OGVPI staff

Student is informed about confidentiality/privacy; rights and reporting options; information on trauma-specific therapy; screening for PTSD; safety assessment and planning

Student shares information with confidential therapist to the extend they feel comfortable

Based on student’s particular situation, concerns and preferences, OGVPI therapist guides student through relevant options including but not limited to medical care, academic support, housing accommodations, legal options, reporting to Student Conduct or OIE, ongoing trauma treatment

Referral from CAPS, Student Health, or other confidential source on campus

Member of Duke community files online incident report at http://studentaffairs.duke.edu/conduct/report-incident

Student directly contacts the Office of Gender Violence Prevention and Intervention [OGVPI] in the Women's Center

OGVPI staff member reaches out to offer services to student

Student meets confidentially with therapist from OGVPI staff

Student is informed about confidentiality/privacy; rights and reporting options; information on trauma-specific therapy; screening for PTSD; safety assessment and planning

Student shares information with confidential therapist to the extend they feel comfortable

Based on student’s particular situation, concerns and preferences, OGVPI therapist guides student through relevant options including but not limited to medical care, academic support, housing accommodations, legal options, reporting to Student Conduct or OIE, ongoing trauma treatment